Part B

Situation

You are Nathan Po. You have just taken part in this year's International Friendship Conference in the US. You have some tasks to do related to your experiences at the conference and during your stay with your host family, the Brockmans.

You will listen to a recording of a Zoom meeting you had with some members of the group you were assigned at the conference. Take notes under the appropriate headings.

Before the recording is played, you will have five minutes to study the Question-Answer Book and the Data File to familiarise yourself with the situation and the tasks.

Complete the tasks by following the instructions in the Question-Answer Book and on the recording. You will find all the information you need in the Question-Answer Book, the Data File and on the recording. As you listen, you can make notes on page 3 of the Data File.

You now have five minutes to familiarise yourself with the Question-Answer Book and the Data File.

Dear Nathan

I hope that you've had a fabulous time at the conference.

I know that you need to write a group feedback report about the favourite activities of your group. Make sure you contact your group members to get some good reasons for their choices of activities.

The Features Editor of the HK Youth Post, Karen Fok, rang me today to say that she'd emailed you earlier in the week asking if you could send in the article that you agreed to write for them by this weekend. She said you didn't get back to her so she's a bit worried as they've saved a feature spot in next Monday's edition for your article. Could you please get the article written as soon as you can?

Finally, Simon Tam, your mentee from the year below you, has been thinking about applying for next year's conference in Phoenix. He has some concerns so I asked him to email you so that he can ask you his questions directly — as you're his mentor it seemed most appropriate. Please do try to put Simon's mind at rest and reassure him. By the way, did you say your host brother is also attending the Conference? Maybe you can tell Simon about that too.

Your classmates and I are definitely looking forward to seeing you again and hearing all about your adventures.

Regards

Mr Spence

Conference Group 4

Chantelle, Karl, Kate, You

Chantelle

So much fun to be one of the FOURERS! Already missing our vibe...

Karl, your fellow countryman Greta's made a speech again! Watched that?

Karl

How dare you all not to????!! She's a true inspiration.

Oh, yeah! I think all students in my city learn about her at school.

"Greta Thunberg – How a Teenage Girl Changed the World" is the first article I read in class this year. :P

Karl

Swedish pride If not for her and other environmentalists, I wouldn't be joining this life-changing conference! BTW, her speech reminded me of our debate we had on climate change.

Right! For me, it's just awesome that all groups could pretend to represent a country here!

And why did you choose to join initially Chantelle?

Chantelle

For the sightseeing tour for sure! Wow wow wow!

Karl

Haha, I remember you bought so much stuff. Do you do that whenever you visit a new place?

Chantelle

Of course! Well, sadly those from the Desert Botanical Garden were a bit pricey, but I bought a T-shirt with Native American folk art on it from the Heard Museum — 9 colourful ponies with birds on their backs! I could add them ALL to my collection!

Those souvenirs were really unusual! And both tours were pretty great indeed! Hey Kate, what about you?

Kate

My friends always call me a cultural enthusiast! I have hundreds of books on all sorts of different cultures!

That's so cool! Well...while I have you all online, I'd just like to say how great it is to have made friends with you all! Hope to be able to visit you in the future or meet up with you if you ever come over to HK! FOURERS FOREVER!

Dear Nathan

I am writing to inform you that you have had the good fortune to be selected to attend this year's International Friendship Conference. It is guaranteed to be an experience to remember.

You are one of only seven students from your country (with only two other students from the city of Hong Kong) chosen to attend the conference this year. A major focus of our event is cooperation and understanding. In saying so, you will not be working with other students from your country. Instead, you will be organised into multicultural groups upon arrival at the conference. You will work closely with your group during your time at the conference and we fully expect that you will form strong bonds of friendship and respect.

During the conference, you will take part in a variety of fun, interesting and educational activities. The activities will cover such diverse topics as religions, cultures, festivals, music, games and food from around the world.

We are dedicated to providing our participants with the best experience possible and as such, we will be asking for your feedback on your favourite activity. However, since one of the aims of this year's conference is understanding, you are invited to write a group feedback report containing short descriptions of the favourite activities of the three other members of your assigned group. Make sure you get to know your group members well over the course of the conference and include your members' full name, which city and country they represent and the reason for their choice. Kindly send this to us shortly after the end of the conference.

We sincerely hope you will attend the conference, and we have confidence that should you choose to do so, you will be rewarded with an experience that you will remember for many years to come.

Yours sincerely

Dear Nathan

I'm just writing to provide you with some more information about the article you agreed to write for the HK Youth Post.

Start by saying that you were chosen to attend the conference and give readers some information about the host city. In the main body, give a brief outline of the conference. Please also provide three examples of the activities you participated. Then, you can describe some details about your own personal highlight of the conference too!

I think our readers would also like to know whether you had a chance to go sightseeing. Could you mention something about that? I know that you host family may have taken you on some outings too but since that's different for every attendee, just cover the those joined by everyone.

Don't forget to end on a positive note. You may share what you have learned overall to encourage readers to apply for joining the International Friendship Conference in the future.

Kindly confirm that you'll be able to send me the article by this coming weekend as it'll feature in next Monday's edition of HK Youth Post.

Regards

Hi Nathan

I'm glad to hear that you're enjoying the conference. I gave your suggestion about applying some serious thought but I have some concerns. Mr Spence says I should seek your advice about them.

I'm worried if I can get along well with the other participants of the conference. I'm not outgoing and I'm afraid I can't think of anything to say to them during the conference. Should I be worried about that? Did you make friends with other participants?

What about the host family? How can I get to know them better? Can you tell me about your host family? What are your host parents like? And what about your host brother and your host sister? Anything special about them?

I heard that the area you've been staying is nice too. Could you tell me more about that? Sorry for throwing you so many questions at once. Please write soon!

Simon

Hi Simon

How're you doing? I'm having a great time here. This is my first week at the International Friendship Conference in the US. The conference and the activities are fantastic! The host brother and sister I stay with are good fun too. I think you'll love it here. You should apply to join next year!

Got to go now. I'll show you photos when I get back and I'm looking forward to resuming our fortnightly mentor-mentee catch-ups. Bye for now!

Nathan

Guidebook excerpt

Phoenix (pronounced /'fi:nɪks/) is the capital of Arizona, and one of the largest cities in the United States.

Phoenix is situated in the Sonoran Desert, and it has some of the hottest summers of any major city in the US. In July, Phoenix records average high temperatures of over 40°C, and temperatures of more than 45°C have been recorded in the past.

Many famous people call Phoenix home, including multi-Olympic gold medallist Michael Phelps, who resides in Paradise Valley, a wealthy part of the city.
